People Profile

Dr. Lou Jacobs, Snowlion Rep board member extraordinaire, is not above handing out flyers for the company or lending his grandmother's Victorian furniture for our sets. Originally from Farmington, Maine, Dr Lou opened Jacobs Chiropractic Acupuncture Center in 2003, and as a board member helps Snowlion Rep with media matters, publicity, and moral (and chiropractic) support! He is the founder of "Mustache Fights Cancer," a cancer fighting fundraiser designed to focus money on research and prevention of the "Cause" of cancer. He volunteers at other organizations such as The Ronald McDonald House, Maine Medical Center, Mercy Hospital, and the Mom to Mom network. Dr. Lou is also the director of the New England Bureau of The American Mustache Institute and was a finalist for the Mustached American of the Year Award in 2010. To find out more about the fascinating Dr. Lou, or to get an acupuncture tune-up, check out his website at www.drloujacobs.com

Greetings!

The dust has finally settled from the December production of The Christmas Bride and we are working to decide our next project - and there are a lot of choices!

Whatever we ultimately decide, we are pretty sure that we will present something at the hugely exciting, brand new, first annual Portland Performing Arts Fringe Festival coming up at the end of June. We'll keep you posted on those developments. For more on that, see the link below. Until next time...

Sincerely,

Al D'Andrea, Artistic Director

Margit Ahlin,

The Christmas Bride video lands on YouTube!

If you missed the show, or if you just miss the show, video excerpts from The Christmas Bride have now made their way to YouTube. Marissa Sheltra as Marion explodes with conflicting feelings in "Fluttering" and Brian McAloon as Michael leads the cast in the Act II rouser "The French Wheel." Click on the links below for a little midwinter fun!

PLAYLAB grows and flourishes

You may be wondering what this PLAYLAB thing is you've been hearing about. In fact, Snowlion Rep's PLAYLAB is Maine's premiere playwrights group, holding monthly meetings where we conduct rehearsed actor-read performances of member work. After the terrific reading by our talented actor pool, the members provide structured feedback and commentary, all with a view to helping the playwright develop his or her work further.

Thus far, we've been treated to some wonderful works:

Full Body Scam by Laura Emack

Orestes 3.0 by Ann Tracy

Souvenirs from Eden by Carolyn Gage
(the true-life subjects of this play are pictured at left)

The Tobacco Kid by Denver Rey Whisman

Check back here for more as PLAYLAB develops and grows. For more information, visit our website About Playlab or contact organizer Margit Ahlin at margit@snowlionrep.org

Something Brand New Comes To Portland!

This summer, from June 28 through July 1, venues all over Portland will participate in the first annual Portland Performing Arts Festival and Festival Fringe! We'll keep you posted on Snowlion Rep's participation in this brand new and exciting event. Meanwhile, you can learn more at their website www.portlandfestival.org. Stay tuned!
